Give a unique gift this holiday season.

London, Ont. - The holidays are traditionally a time to look back, to catch-up old friends on our past year, and to make plans for the new. With the season comes a rush and bustle that sometimes makes it hard to get all the cards in the mail, to call to every friend and family member, and to pick up that distinctive gift for your favourite aunt. This season, the London Health Sciences Foundation has a solution.

To thank the community for supporting caregivers, researchers, teachers and patients at the hospital, the foundation is offering a unique feature on its website.

Visitors to www.lhsf.ca/holiday can create a “musical moment”, share a thought and send it to their friends and family. They can even share the musical message on their Facebook or Twitter account.

Although a donation is not required to use this feature, there is an option to give a gift to support patient-care and research. You can even make the donation in that special someone’s name, and then let them know that they have inspired a gift for life this holiday season. There is also a video of “Justin’s Life-Changing Moment” - a true story that illustrates the impact donations can have on a patient and their family.

What could be better than helping change a life here in our community or supporting a medical discovery that will benefit people everywhere? Donations help fund innovative equipment, research, education and enhanced patient care at London Health Sciences Centre.

London Health Sciences Foundation wishes everyone health, happiness and a season filled with special holiday moments.

London Health Sciences Foundation is a Better Business Bureau accredited charity, linking our community and health care experts—including physicians, allied professionals, researchers, staff and educators—together in pursuit of medical excellence at London Health Sciences Centre.
